A Bit About Wolfe's Neck Center

Wolfe's Neck Center for Agriculture & the Environment seeks to transform our relationship with farming and food for a healthier planet. On our 626 acres of diverse ecosystems, we farm, conduct agricultural research on soils and climate change, and invite visitors to engage with the food system and the role we all can play in building a more just and sustainable future. The farm is a beautiful and inspiring place for visitors of all ages to learn and play. We offer a diversity of ways to engage with agriculture and the food system, including numerous education programs, a community garden, a Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) program, a farm store and Farm Café, an oceanfront campground, several seasonal community events and festivals, and our Organic Dairy Research and Farmer Training Program.

What do our Campsite and Cleaning Staff do?

Wolfe's Neck Center is an amazing place to work! You arrive each day with views of gorgeous oceanfront pastures, happy cows grazing and people of all ages enjoying the outdoors. We are seeking outgoing, friendly people with a positive attitude and willingness to dive in and help as needed. Our Campsite and Cleaning crew plays an essential part of creating a positive experience for our visitors. This job is largely outdoors, as we have a sprawling campus and the campsites are spread out along the shoreline. Emptying campfires between guests, cleaning out shower buildings, and tidying cabins are some of the duties performed by this staff. Our full season runs May through October, though when schools are out it's our busiest time and we have additional opportunities. Full and part time, daytime hours available. It's a great way to get outdoors, enjoy the ocean breeze, and spend your summer with a great team contributing to the work of our nonprofit organization!
